A piece of club history, 1968

SPECTATORS at Elland Road tonight will be taking part in a piece of club history—the first occasion on which closed circuit television has been tried out on our ground. Its subject, our Fairs Cup quarter-final with Rangers at Ibrox Stadium in Glasgow, could hardly be more enthralling.

For our fine win here over Manchester City on Saturday let us go to Glasgow at the top of the First Division, which we had reached, sliding over City by four hundredths of a goal, on Wednesday night last with our draw at Chelsea.

Rangers continued their run at the top of the Scottish First Division with a splendid 3—1 away win over Hibernian in Edinburgh. "Hibs," we may recall, were our last opponents in the Fairs Cup, and we found them a formidable side—they are still third to Rangers and Celtic in the Scottish championship.

So what you will be watching tonight is the meeting of the presently leading side in the Football League versus the presently leading side in the Scottish League—in strictly competitive football. Both Rangers and ourselves, apart from being keenly desirous of settling which is the better side, badly want to get into Europe for both the honour and the additional money that accrues from competitive European football.

Our TV contractors tonight are the well known London firm of Closed Circuit Television, Ltd., and we feel confident they will give you a good show. They have had plenty of practical experience of both indoor and outdoor sporting occasions, experience which they have brought to bear in their careful planning of tonight's "show" and its commentary.

The five screens you see are each 40 feet by 30 feet, big enough to show a good picture to even the "back row," and we have, of course, closed sections of the ground which it is technically impracticable to provide with a reasonable picture. The crowd limit tonight is indeed only 38,000—and we had 51,818 inside last Saturday against Manchester City.

IF "HARRY" IS HERE —

Our last chairman, Mr. Harry Reynolds, made tremendous efforts during the last year or two to get closed circuit television of several of our away games, both at home and on the Continent, back to Elland Road, but always there were technical difficulties beyond solution.

However, if he is here tonight—and we trust he is either here or at Ibrox despite his continued arthritic affliction—he will be seeing his valued efforts bear fruit. One thing we cannot organise, of course, and that is the weather.

We have done all we can in arranging for the kick off at Ibrox to be at 8.30 in order to allow darkness to give a better floodlit picture at Ibrox and one more clearly visible on the giant screens here.

Good viewing !
